WELCOME TO “ROYGBIV”

---

The Arts Foundation of Cape Cod is pleased to welcome each of you to this unique exhibit. We are proud to present over fifty of Cape Cod’s finest artists displaying works that explore the color spectrum.

ROYGBIV is the third annual event of the Arts Education Initiative of the Arts Foundation of Cape Cod. By displaying a wide variety of thematically related works, the exhibit highlights some of the infinite ways in which artists approach color in a variety of different media. Conceived and curated with children in mind, ROYGBIV confirms the importance of arts education at all stages of our growth as creative individuals.

The Arts Foundation of Cape Cod recognizes that creativity requires constant nurturing and support from the entire community in order to thrive. We are committed to increasing access to quality education in and through the arts in our schools and partnering arts and cultural organizations.

We extend our sincere gratitude to each of the participating artists for sharing themselves and their work. We are grateful to our many corporate, business and individual supporters whose generosity allows us to provide essential services and programming for aspiring, emerging and established artists and artisans living and working on Cape Cod 365 days a year.

Sincerely,

Margaret G. Van Sciver
President
Arts Foundation of Cape Cod

ABOUT THE EXHIBIT

ROYGBIV is a collection of work from over fifty of Cape Cod's finest artists. Working in a variety of media, each of them is engaged in an ongoing conversation with color.

Their dialogues began at a very young age.

Studies have shown what our parents knew to be true. Babies begin to recognize colors when they are very young, as early as four months old. The first concrete evidence of this occurs when a toddler successfully sorts objects by color.

The names of a few colors provide us with an immediate connection to an object. An orange is orange. But the majority of color names are abstract. So children learn colors by attaching them to a representational object. A particularly large dog is red, a friendly frog is green and a tank engine is blue. Attaching a particular color to a specific object helps children learn and remember colors. Eventually, most children, sometime between the ages of 4 and 7, can identify and can name colors accurately.

From that first look, color intrigues us. What does purple look like? Can you describe yellow? In both realistic and abstract works, the artists of ROYGBIV have addressed questions like these, each in their own unique way.

This exhibit invites us to listen in on their continuing conversations with color.

– Margaret Van Sciver
