This Month:

Silver-Screen Stooges

If a two-day "Three Stooges" festival sounds like your idea of fun, head to Woonsocket's Stadium Theatre Jan 8 to 9. Enjoy classic episodes of Larry, Curly and Moe's stunts on the big screen. The fun starts at 7 each evening. Free admission. Visit www.stadiumtheatre.com.

First Things First

The Cotuit Center for the Arts will host "First Things First," a family-friendly regional art exhibit, Jan. 9 to Feb. 6. Children can participate in educational activities based on the collection of art at the event. Works are hung at children's eye level, so young ones can make the most of their cultural visit. Free admission. Visit www.artsfoundation.org/first-things-first.

Weekends at the Phillips House

Visit Salem's historic Phillips House Saturdays from Jan. 16 to Feb. 27 for wintertime treats. Tour the house and learn about 19th-century life while enjoying hot cocoa and cookies. Events run from 3 to 4:30 p.m. Admission: $8; $7, students and seniors; $6, children. Registration recommended. Visit www.historicnewengland.com.

Winter Watercolors

Visit Duxbury's Art Complex Museum now through Jan. 17 for the New England Watercolor Society Regional Show. The show joins the Art Complex's other amazing
